St. Michael's Picnic Draws Good Crowd

The Parish of St. Michael's, Strathmore and Gleichen held their annual Parish Picnic at Wyndham Park Sunday afternoon. The weather was perfect and everyone enjoyed the day to the full. There were about 100 present.

The Church Service conducted by Rev. D. A. Ford was much enjoyed by all present.

Members from the different points in the Parish were present.

Later on Children's races were held. A sumptuous lunch was partaken with the zest that only the out-of-doors can give.

A pick up Ball game provided fun aplenty for some while others rested on the green turf or listened to the ripple of the quickly flowing Bow River.

All voted it a happy outing.

COLWELL NOMINATED AS POOL DELEGATE

HUSSAR NOTES

By Mrs. I.S.

On Friday afternoon, the Hussar Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. W. Will, with Mrs. R. Hulen, assisting hostess, with only twelve present, so many being away on vacation. The president, Mrs. E. J. Bell, had several items to have discussed and decided. Among them, it was decided to collect canned fruit and vegetables for the Junior Red Cross Hospital at a later date, and send them in again. The approaching bazaar came in for quite a bit of discussion and planning. Helpers for the work of the Mobile Unit of the Chest X-Ray to be in Hussar July 21 and 22, were selected as follows: Mesdames Burdett, Saunders, R. Hulen, W. Will, Fringle, and later were added Mesdames Moulton, Warburton, and Miss B. Janz. The Mobile Unit arrived on Saturday, from Strathmore.

It was decided to stick to the regular date hereafter; the second Thursday of each month. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Treacy on August 14. All women of the community are welcome.

No dance here on the 25.

Bild Wading Pool

A wading pool for the ladies next to the Lounge Swimming Pool in Strathmore is fast taking on a life. Much of the material necessary has already been hauled, and it is expected that it will all be transported shortly. Mr. G. H. Patrick has offered his services in laying out the land, and a group of workers are expected to take over duties within the week. How long it will be before the pool can be ready is not known.

Final arrangements to go ahead were made at a directors meeting of the Lions on Wednesday night.

U.F.W. A. MEET

Fourteen members and two visitors attended the July meeting of the Strathmore Local of the U.F.W.A. held at Mrs. M. Downey's. The roll call was "Where I would like to spend my vacation" and showed that all

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING OVER WATER

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday of this week, with all members of the Council present, together with Mr. C. A. MacDonald, representing the investment and bond company, who explained to the Council many of the features dealing with the development of a water and sewage system for the town which have transpired lately.

Many of these features were alterations to the original plan, and were arranged through consultation of Haddin and Miles, engineers, and the Provincial Government.

It is now proposed that the minimum water charge be fifty cents a month less than was originally contemplated, that is, $3.00 per month. Sewer would be at the rate of $2.00 per month.

It is also proposed to cut the ten cent frontage tax to eight cents. Both of these savings are possible because of the larger number of prospective users than was at first contemplated.

The material situation, Mr. MacDonald stated, was extremely bad. Questioned as to how much work could be done this year, Mr. MacDonald suggested it might be possible to obtain sufficient material to have a sewage system operating, but that a water system for this year was simply out of the question. This is on the basis of the experience of several towns. It would be wise, Mr. MacDonald suggested, to place orders of materials as early as is possible.

Electrical storms disrupting power service provided an annoyance through the evening. Several times while discussing some of the knotty twists in the empowering legislation the Council was completely in the dark.

The best time to market debentures, in the event of the by-law being passed, was discussed, and it was agreed to wait a month and seek further information.

Four by-laws, dealing with water and sewer were read a first time. Further action will be taken as soon as is possible, following the opportunity for ratepayers to object through petition, as discussed in the advertisement of the by-law elsewhere in this issue.

FARMING NEWS

Produced by the Alberta Department of Agriculture

TO CONTROL CUTWORMS

We hear reports of bad cutworm damage. Not much can be done with cutworms in cereal crops. Something can be done, however, to control the damage on crops to be sown or summer-fallow next year. Cutworm moths, it seems, fly from August 1st to the middle of September. During this time they lay their eggs, but they do not lay their eggs on soil that is free from weeds and encrusted with rain.

To lessen the damage from cutworms for next year's crop, the Dominion Entomological recommends that all work on summer-fallow fields should stop by July 31, and that by that time the fields should be as free from weeds as possible. The idea is that on these smooth black fields the rain will fall, crust the top and then the cutworm moths will fly over these fields and lay their eggs elsewhere, so that next year's crops sown on these summer-fallow fields should be reasonably free from cutworms. The moths fly from August 1st, to Sept. 15. No summer-fallow fields, therefore, should be distributed between those dates. It is necessary to keep horses or cattle from wandering over these fields, because their hoofs will break the crust and leave a soft nest for the cutworm moth to lay her eggs.

CRIPPS CONFIRMS NON-NATIONALIZATION OF INSURANCE IN U.K.

Sir Stafford Cripps, President of the Board of Trade, speaking before an important business group in London recently, again emphasized that the government has no intention of nationalizing the insurance business—a statement which he first made to the nation on the occasion of the introduction of the Assurance Companies Act to the House of Commons a year ago. He said, "the government has no intention of interfering with the transaction of insurance business by private enterprise. It is the desire of the government that insurance should be, in the future as in the past, dealt with on an international basis and as business of an international character."

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

I never stop wondering at the remarkable economy and efficiency set up by the co-operation of millions of individuals in life insurance.

Government figures on the Canadian companies show that 75¢ of every dollar received by these life insurance companies came from policyholders' premiums; 24½¢ from investments and ½¢ from sundry sources.

But the amazing thing to me is that for every dollar received by the companies 84¢ was paid to or held for policyholders; 2¢ went to governments for taxes; 13½¢ covered all operating expenses; and ½¢ went to shareholders. No wonder that people in 64 other countries buy Canadian life insurance, because it is so well managed.

Life insurance is a business built for everybody, a great enterprise which protects the future of more than four million policyholders and their loved ones. Life insurance offers a systematic and easy way to save. Consult an authorized agent about a plan best suited to your requirements.

Foreign Affairs are Domestic Affairs Now

The time is past for narrow thinking. Economic disaster in Great Britain can be economic disaster for us. The troubles of Germany, and Greece are our troubles. Starvation in India and China can mean less food for the people of New Brunswick and Alberta.

Your Prime Minister and your cabinet must now make decisions in behalf of the Canadian people which will directly affect the peoples of Europe and Asia. These decisions have to do with Foreign Affairs, but they also do with your business, your investments, and your personal life.

An intelligent Canadian public is a prerequisite to the sound judgement of the Prime Minister and the Cabinet. Is your opinion on foreign affairs based on a thorough understanding of world politics? Or have you become hopelessly confused by reading all that is available in newspapers and magazines. Do you have the feeling that "The more I read the less I know?"

Appearing on this page is a copy of the current Foreign Letter. This is a product of the oldest organization in America devoting its facilities to the analysis of national and world trends. We invite you to read and note how much more intelligible the daily foreign news in your newspapers becomes. Note how much of your present reading time is saved.

After reading a few issues of the Foreign Letter give us your reaction. The Standard is interested to know whether it fills a need or not, and it is only through its readers' opinions that it can find out.

Of Mice and - uh - Men?

Sometimes we wonder if Hitler had the right idea.

We begin to think so when we see such things as the swings in Lamber Park.

Some two weeks ago the swings, both sets of them, were torn down... wrecked... by some vandal or vandals who seem to have taken delight in thus wantonly destroying public property. We hear a lot of talk these days about juvenile delinquents, once more this is not their work but that of adult delinquents. . . . It takes more than a youngster to upset timbers like these.

For years these swings have served the kiddies of town. They were repaired and equipped with new chains this spring. Now they lie in ruination . . . an eyesore in the park.

The public is frequently indignant over the "meanest thief" . . . stealing from a blind man, or candy from a kid. Such an act as this is even more despicable. It takes some kind of personal affront and nerve to take candy from a kid. But swings can be torn down with no protest, and no objection.

And what makes the situation worse is that these vandals have not the acumen to feel the public indignation over their act. They would enjoy it, as they will appreciate this editorial outburst.

Along with his extermination of mores, may have been on the right track at that.

"Bang!!" went the rifles at Sarsco Camp manoeuvres.

The pretty blonde screamed and jumped backwards into the arms of George Freeman.

"Oh," she said, blushing, "I beg your pardon."

"Not at all," said George. Let's go over and watch the artillery."

"You're out of luck THIS week, Jack—your INCOME TAX is more than your PAY. Gimme $3.47."

Big Moments

One of the most momentous problems that ever faced settlement by representatives of different nations is that which is now facing the United Nations.

The seriousness of the question whether agreement can be reached by which a Europe will be enabled to build again a settled policy of progress and development or whether Russia will refuse to be reconciled to that one quality at the thought of disagreement. The leaders on whom falls the task of bringing about an amicable decision are fully conscious of the importance of the outcome.

By one way, a peaceful world with everyone so busy rebuilding that war can be overshadowed; on the other hand Russia refuses to accede to a plan of joint rebuilding one trembles at the possible consequence. However Russia stands to gain by an amicable settlement, rather than incur the ill will of a powerful U.S. and we believe she will so govern her attitude in the final negotiations.

Greyhounds on a British race track were so busy worrying the electric hare, which had just broken down, that they failed to spot a real, live hare which invaded the track. The newcomer ducked out of the stadium as fast as he got in. (Newspaper report.) There are a lot of comments which might be made, says Bruce McKenzie, such as "Hare, hare!" but he's content to note the lesson it teaches in persistence. After years of trying, the dogs finally made the grade, and Bruce is thinking that if he sees that Western picture enough, the hero might sometime fail to arrive on time.

London and Paris are officially optimistic, but there can be no question as to the behind-the-scenes pessimism about political developments in Europe. Everywhere there is fear that the situation may get out of hand before effectual steps can be taken to stop the rot. The reasoning behind this thought is as follows: "Molotov's carefully stage-managed, abrupt departure from Paris was the agreed signal for Communists in key positions all over Europe to go to work. A powerful well-organized machine for political warfare, undoubtedly liberally financed by Russian gold, has been thrown into gear. The fight is on, and no holds are barred. Time is running very short. The situation in France is extremely critical. If the Communists get control there and can steal you top, the Battle of Europe is lost. Every European country is tense with anxiety and fear. Any appearance of delay or dispute in Paris, or of American reluctance to come through with help, will pay into Communist hands."

THE PROBLEM OF GETTING HELP TO EUROPE

500,000 tons mobilized only 20,000 tons for authorized use.

ECONOMIC BLOG

Moscow is promising that she can provide more and quicker help than the U.S. to the nearby dominated nations, and hopes to cement them with a Marshall project of her own. Undeterred by the fact that for centuries Eastern European countries have formed an integral part of Europe, she is binding them together politically and otherwise, with continual emphasis on their economic interdependence. For example, the Czechs, in addition to taking part in the industrialization of Yugoslavia, are to aid in the electrification of Bulgaria. (The Bulgarian Premier openly and repeatedly refers to "building the United Slav States.") Any tendency to wander outside this exclusive group immediately provokes smart Russian action. Rumania is to get a Russian loan of about $20 million in return for cancelling her purchase of Argentine wheat and withdrawing from Switzerland the gold which had been deposited there as collateral for purchases in the West of Europe.

HEAVY COMMITMENT

Stalin personally promised Czechoslovakia more than she could hope to get quickly from the U.S. in 1948, 200,000 tons of wheat, 200,000 tons of foodstuffs or cattle, 50,000 tons of nitrate fertilizer, besides cotton, oil, wool, ores of iron, manganese and chrome. Russia is to receive in return railway equipment of all kinds, piping and machinery for oil wells, beef cattle and all sorts of small electric goods, as well as shoe-making machinery, etc. etc. It is a five-year program that is not yet reduced to treaty form, but which both Capitals have agreed to sign.

CAN THE RUSSIANS MAKE GOOD?

The Ukraine reports a fine wheat crop, but Russia is a pauper in terms of most consumption goods, and her own industrial production plus that of her neighbors cannot for some years to come supply her wants. As against a "League of Destitution", headed by Russia, and a consortium of nations that can call on the production of the U.S., there should be little doubt as to the ultimate result, assuming that politics does not play havoc with economics.

GOLD

There is speculation as to whether

Russia intends to use her undoubtedly economic weapon. She is known to have been the second largest gold producer for many years, and it is supposed that she may even have equalled South African output. Production is thought to have continued throughout the war, and it is said that machinery which could be used for gold mining United States and Britain. has been purchased from both the IN AUGUST 1952, the Bankers Trust Company of New York estimated Russian gold stocks ($35 per ounce) at $1 billion, but that was a conservative estimate and the hoard must be much larger now. Reports that some Russian satellites are purchasing commodities in world markets with gold, presumably of Russian origin, have aroused interest in London.

STERLING

Restoration of sterling as a free medium of exchange (convertibility) may be a powerful factor in promoting expansion of world trade. London is annoyed by the erroneous impression (largely due to misinterpretation of a Washington "handout" by the British Information Service) and indignantly denies any intention of "ratting on convertibility," political considerations delayed preparatory arrangements with India and Palestine, and some other countries, such as China, do not possess adequate machinery for exchange supervision, wherefore they might allow sterling other than that accruing from current transactions to leak through, which would place an unwarrantable burden on Britain's dollar reserves. "Some delay has been inevitable but it was entirely due to practical considerations and not to coin fees."

THE BRITISH TREASURY has all along assumed that the convertibility machinery would work if other countries acted responsibly, as it is in their interest to do. Convertibility does not essentially aggravate the dollar-balance crisis, which must come anyway, although it may accelerate it. THE NON-DISCRIMINATION CLAUSE may become a more serious cause of friction when the full impact of import cuts is felt. Beaverbrook's newspapers, which from the outset opposed the American loan, are now making an increasingly big play of the effect Clause 9 of the Financial Agreement has in preventing Britain from buying Dominion produce for exports. Canadian apples and South American fruits—unless comparable purchases are made in the U.S. for dollars. To meet this situation, the U.S. is already considering a proposal by Undersecretary Clayton that Clause 9 need not apply as between Britain and her Colonies. It is also understood that the U.S. would be receptive to a British proposal to revise the clause or to postpone its operation for a period.

IMPORTS

The foregoing is accentuated by the hot debate on the Attlee Government's import policy. The Opposition really made the Government squirm last week in Parliament. Criticism is that the Government is moving too fast (should wait to see how the Marshall project works out) and that import cuts to save dollars will actually by virtue of bond amortization immediately intensify the contraction of trade in the non-dollar areas.

THE MORE SOLID CREDITISM comes, however, from those who hold that failure to give a more convincing demonstration of Britain's willingness to accept a new order, by putting her own house in order, will prejudice her case in American eyes. And that, with or without American aid, Britain must make a frontal attack on the real causes of her present predicament which the mass public still does not fully comprehend. Britain, their analysis indicates, must increase her present production by at least 10% and must at the same time reduce public and private expenditure. She could thus increase exports directly, and indirectly by releasing resources now retained on less essential products. "Britain must work harder to reduce production costs. Only when she has demonstrated that she is so doing will she merit and obtain U.S. aid on an appropriate scale." The Sunday Times declares: "Even if the advances comes off the final crisis will only be delayed, the extended furmoralizing gamble on American aid though from reality being punctuated by subsidiary economic crisis."

BRITISH MISSION

Next week a British Mission will visit Washington to review the general coal problem. "A mine strike in America would have been absolutely ruinous." Everybody agrees that more coal must be had and that no measures so far tried, or in sight, hold out any hope. The problem must be licked at a higher level than that of the Military Government in Germany (Generals Clay and Robertson) and that is why it is now to be taken up "at the top." What part the International Bank may take is not clear. It might finance some rail equipment—there is not enough of it now to move more coal, if dug. An American expert, returning after an absence of two years to study the Ruhr situation, reports that not one iota of progress has been made.

WASHINGTON HAS VIRTUALLY ABANDONED ANY HOPE that an agreement can be reached with Russia for the economic unification of Germany. It is hoped that Clay will be able to decentralize responsibility. Everything must now be referred to Berlin, while Clay is so engrossed in Control organization in Berlin, actual controls will in effect be moved elsewhere many or for currency reform. While urgent problems, such as food, that he can give no attention to such essentials as currency reform. But that achievement is at least six months off.

GERMAN CONDITIONS

Our diplomatic informant, after a close study of the situation in Germany, reports thus, in substance: "Nobody who has not seen them can believe conditions are as bad as they are. The people are literally in rags and without shoes. They cannot buy anything except a few rationed necessities. Absenteeism from the mills is general and apathy is everywhere, because there is no hope. Everybody knows that the currency will be destroyed and that the economy cannot operate again until there is a sound currency and consumer goods can be bought. We can not blame the farmer for not selling grain or the worker for not working, when the marks received in payment (beyond the few needed for rationed goods) are worthless? The Germans are becoming Zombies."

WHEN, AS MUST EVENTUALLY HAPPEN, outstanding marks are called in and a new currency substituted, the operation will have to be completed in a hurry, that is, within a few days, and even then some limitation on the amounts to be exchanged must be placed, however low the valuation. The Russians still have the plates to print marks.

PROGRESS

A cotton agreement has been made with the newly formed Cotton Supply Corporation (American) which puts up $1 million of capital, and the Export-Import Bank which provides $15 million of credit. A significant feature of the agreement is that, aside from licensing and exchange transactions, the program is in the hands of the Germans. They will make their own bargains with American cotton dealers. This means that the unneeded "know-how" of the Bremen cotton merchants can be utilized. The previous program was largely a failure because it was badly handled and cotton shipped from the U. S. was not only low-grade, but also so mixed that processing was difficult. A good deal of American and Egyptian cotton has been processed in the British zone and distributed abroad as British goods. The German textile industry is operating at about 35% of present (not prewar) capacity and this could be doubled in a year under favorable conditions.

GENERAL

Barely two months after adoption of the five-day week, absenteeism is again plaguing the British coal industry. Fuel Minister Shinwell virtually confesses defeat, since he is without power to force the miners to stay in the pits. So drastic have been the recent Argentine import embargoes that British ships are faced with the necessity of making the outward trip in ballast. Secretary Snyder can prevent U. S. Government 2½% bonds from going through the roof only by continuous selling from trust fund accounts, whereas Chancellor Dalton recently had to sit helplessly by while his new 2½% issue fell to 90. . . Belgium and Holland are the bitterest critics of Anglo-American economic policies in Germany, claiming that the military has frustrated every move to restore trade.

WASHINGTON'S NEW DIRECTIVE TO GENERAL CLAY (as forecast in this LETTER, July 8) speaks for itself. The big test of the effort to mobilize Europe for recovery will be reached when the problem of tariffs gets down to details, for it is assumed by economists that there must be a customs union or something equivalent. . . MacArthur declares: "It becomes unmistakably clear that here in Japan we shall win the peace."

LIONS CLUB MEETING

A good attendance was present last Thursday at the Lions Meeting, Lion Pres. Charlie Scott presiding.

Discussion re proceeding with the Wading Pool resulted in the decision to proceed at once with the Wading Pool. Gravel is being hauled and sand is arranged for. Mr. Patrick has arranged to stake out the space and excavation will commence within the next few days.

George Palardy, F. F. Baldo and Len Roberts comprise the civic committee of the Lions Club and they will largely supervise the project.

The Wading Pool will entail considerable work and any volunteer labor will be very greatly appreciated.

Sec. W. E. Springthorpe announced the members having 100 percent attendance— as follows: W. E. Springthorpe; C. Scott; C. Harvey; J. A. Tench; George Palardy; George Anderson; H. Scheer; C. Coles; H. Wolcum; Art Moore; George Riddon; R. J. Milligan; Chas. MacLean; Dr. J. Giffen; W. E. Thompson; W. Mercer and J. W. Scheer.

The Annual Picnic will be held at Wyndham Park Sunday, August 3, and anyone desiring transportation are asked to phone George Riddon or Frank Bischoff.

A very interesting talk was given by Dr. Murphy on Africa, its people and conditions. Dr. Murphy spent some time in Central Africa and spoke from a first hand knowledge, which held the closest attention of all present.

A delicious repast was served by Lena W. E. Springthorpe, W. Mercer and George Riddon.

It's okay to tell the story now about the meeting of the Lions Club over the Sports Day. "What we need," said Andy Scott, "is something to stir up the public."

"Fine," said Herman Wolcum, "let's have a woman ride down Main Street on a white horse like Lady Godiva did."

"Boy," said Andy, "that's just the thing....I haven't seen a white horse on Main Street for years and years."

Hosford - Morrison

Miss Anna June Morrison, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Morrison of Calgary, was married there July 18 at Central United church to Mr. William John Hosford, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white swiss embroidered eyelid styled with a bouffant skirt. Her veil of illusion net was held in place by a small coronet and she wore the bridegroom's gift of a string of pearls. Her colonial bouquet was made of roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Joan Race of Edmonton was bridesmaid and Mr. Roy Stephenson, also of Edmonton, attended the bridegroom. Ushers were Ron Morrison, brother of the bride, and Mr. Horace Herlihy of Edmonton.

During the signing of the register, Miss Alys Wilson sang "Through the Yuletide."
